

NOTES FOR CONTRIBUTORS

All articles in the journal are refereed. Articles should be sent either by post, or electronic-mail. In all cases, the author's name and affiliation should be on a separate page, and not be repeated in headers or footers.

Hard Copies: Articles (including abstract, notes and references) must be printed, double-spaced, on one side only of white A4 paper. Send four hard copies, as well as a disk containing the article in MS Word format to: The Editor, Fijian Studies, Fiji Institute of Applied Studies, P O Box 7580, Lautoka, Fiji.

Electronic submission: please ensure that the paper meets the journal's style guidelines, and is in the MS-Word format. Email the article to: fias@connect.com.fj

Length of Articles: The articles should normally be between 8,000-10,000 words. shorter or longer submissions will be considered on their merit. As the journal aims for a wide readership, authors should write in accessible language of intelligent communication. Unless absolutely necessary, complex and lengthy models should be confined to the appendix. Use endnotes rather than footnotes, but seek to minimize the use of endnotes by including the material in the note within the text. When unavoidable, the location of endnotes within the text should be indicated by superscript numbers.

Abstracts: Each article should include an abstract of 100-200 words.

Titles: Titles of articles should be brief and accurate. Headings and sub-headings within the text should be short and clear. Avoid excessive subheadings.

Spelling: Use British and 'z' spellings (e.g. labour, organize).

Quotations, Numbers, Dates and Tables/Figures: Use single quotation marks. For quotations within quotations, use double marks. Indent longer quotations. Omit points in USA, Ms, Dr and other such abbreviations. Use the smallest possible number of numerals when referring to pagination and dates (e.g. 10-19, 42-5, 1961-4, 1961-75, 2000-2). In the text, spell out numbers from one to ninety-nine; use numerals for 100 and over. Always use numerals for percentages (75 per cent) and units of measurement (13 km, US$ 40,000). Spell out 'per cent' in the text; the symbol % is acceptable in tables. Dates should be in the form of 19 May 2000. Tables and figures should be kept to a minimum. Notes and sources should be placed under each table/figure. Column headings in tables should clearly define the data presented. Camera-ready artwork should be supplied for all figures.

Referencing: Use the Harvard system of referencing. Works cited in the text should read thus: (Narayan, 2001: 41-4); Prasad (1998, 2002). For groups of citations, order alphabetically and not chronologically, using a semi-colon to separate names: (Chand and Naidu, 1997; Narayan, 2001; Robertson, 1998). Use 'et al.' when citing a work by more than two authors, but list all the authors in the references. To distinguish different works by the same author in the same year, use the letters a, b, c, etc., e.g. Narayan (2001_a, 2001_b).

All works cited in the text (including sources for tables and figures) should be listed alphabetically under References, beginning on a separate sheet of paper. For multi-author works, invert the name of the first author only (Chand, G. and V. Naidu). Use (ed.) for one editor, but (eds) for multiple editors. When listing two or more works by one author, repeat the author's name for each entry. Indicate (opening and closing) page numbers for articles in journals and chapters in books.

Arrange references using the following style and punctuation:
